For the first time the fact is now reveuled that M. Plehve's murder had been preceded by four abortive attempts to encompass his death, which the department of political police frustrated in the nick of time by the arrest of the would-be assassins, who were quietly imprisoned or banished. Only one of these attempts has hitherto become public, and that was revealed by the accidental explosion of a bomb in the Hotel Du Nord, in St. Petersburg. Sasoneff and two of his accomplices continue to maintain obstinate silence concerning the assassination of M. CANNON TAKES UP PARKER with members of the crowd. When Mr. Cannon arrived at the opera house he was greeted with cheers which drowned out the music of the band. Congressman Kinkaid, state candidates and the legislative candidates occupied seats on the stage. Chairman N. P. McDonald of the county committee presided at the meeting and introduced the speakers.

In concluding his address Mr. Cannon said the republicans ought to return Judge Kinkaid to congress. He spoke of the ongressman's good work and predicted that he would do greater things if reany state, he said. Mr. Cannon dealt mostly with the tariff issue in his address and wound up with a few shots at Judge Farker's letter of acceptance.

In telling of the progress of the country under republican management with a protection law in force he said the United States in 1860 was sixth in the list of manufacturing countries and the total value of the manufacturing products was $1,500,000, while in 1900 the total value of manufactured products was $1,300,000,000. This was one-third of the value of all the manufactured products of the world. Of these products Mr. Cannon said $9,200,000,000 were sold in the home markets, the remainder being sent abroad. During the 106 years to the election of McKinley, said Mr. Cannon. the United States exported 70,000,000 of products more than was imported. From the time of McKinley's election until last June the exports were $4,000,000,000 more than the imports. Results Compared.

Mr. Cannon reviewed the history of the ountry under Cleveland and free trade. He told of the 3,000,000 of men thrown out of employment by the closing of the factories In 1896, he said, the republicans again put protection on the statutes. Factories opened and general prosperity was the re-

The speaker referred to the official acts of President Roosevelt and endorsed them every one, calling attention particularly to the settlement of the anthracite coal strike, the settlement of the Alaskan boundary and his recognition of the Panama repubhe and starting the work on the Panama canal. He was willing to admit, he said; the expenses of the government were more now than when Cleveland was president, as Judge Parker charged; but now, he said, the people were getting the worth of their money. He spoke briefly of the Philippines and said the islands would be given their freedom when they were capable of self-government and when that time comes no power on earth could drive the natives way from the United States.

One Unpopular Decision The crowd was greatly disappointed when he decision in the combination class, which ncluded driving to a gig and under saddle, was not given to Commodore Stone, the dainty gray gelding owned by E. D. Mc-Allister of St. Joseph, Mo. This horse capured all hearts, even those of some of the udges who did not have this class to handle. But the Commodore lost because it was determined that he was too light to carry the 200 pounds demanded. When Daisy Dean of Pepper's stable was declared winner through the megaphone the audience was so angry that it hissed, not a scattering, faint exhibition, but a great whirring noise that made the offending judges swear. Then it was explained by Master of Ceremonies Sapp that the judges thought the same as the crowd, but had to bar the St. Joseph horse out because of its size and apparent strength. Then Commodore Stone received an ovation such as few animals at horse shows have ever received. Handelapping wouldn't do; it was cheering, loud, long cheering all the way round the ring from the tanbark to the

WHAT SOME OF THE WOMEN WORE Striking Costumes Noticed Among the

Display of Beautiful Gowns.

One of the most noticeable costumes in the boxes was that worn by Miss Flora Webster. The very full skirt of ombre veiling, shaded from the light to the deep tones of onion skin, was trimmed around with narrow silk braid applied in designs. The bodice, in the same shades, had a yoke of crocheted lace from which small tucking dropped in jacket effect over a blouse of Valenciennes lace, and the large puffed sleeves were finished in ruffles of deep Valenciennes. The Pacquin coat of peau de cygne, in the deep tone, was slightly bloused into a braid-trimmed girdle with narrow shirred peplins below and the large double puffed sleeves opened over

NEBRASKA GETS FIVE PRIZES Grand Medals Awarded the Antelope State by the Juries at St. Louis.

James Walsh, superintendent of the Nebraska exhibit at the St. Louis exposition, is in Omaha for a few days, arranging for a carload of grapes to be taken to the Nebraska exhibit. He says that Nebraska has already been awarded five grand prizes and is certain to receive others. The attention that has been given the exhibit has been most gratifying, and the fact that it is growing steadily convinces the commission

Accurate  Oven Thermometers

There is a certainty and satisfac-tion about the baking done in Moore's Thermometer Ranges that is unequalled. Thousands of these ranges are in use and they are especially in favor with particular housekeepers who have a reputation for good cooking.

You are invited to call and whether you wish to purchase or not, we shall be pleased to show you the working of the thermometer, the Hing-ed Top, the Controller Damper and the many other points in which Moore's Ranges excell all others.

Cure for Asthma and Hay Fever

The statements published below con-firm the claim of Dr. Schiffmann that his remedy is an absolute cure for Asthma and Hay Fever.

Mrs. Mary Zachery, Pleasant Hill, La., says: "I have found your Asthma Cure a permanent cure for Asthma, for which I used it 7 years ago. I have never had the slightest return of the trouble since. I have also found your remedy excellent in Bronchial affections."
